I. Overview

- B. No more than two (2) members per FFA Chapter will be permitted to participate in the Ag Discussion Meet in any given year.
- C. Previous first (1st), second (2nd) or third (3rd) place FFA Ag Discussion Meet state winners shall not be eligible to participate in this event.
- D. Participants must register through their FFA Chapter using the online Iowa FFA Leadership Conference registration system by the specified date.
- E. A briefing session for judges, moderator and participants will precede the discussion meet event. Attendance at this briefing session is mandatory and is a requirement for participation.
- F. The number of participants in any discussion group may vary from a minimum of three (3) to a maximum of eight (8) at the discretion of the contest chairperson.
- G. When there are more than eight (8) participants, it will be necessary to have preliminary rounds. Participants will be drawn for assignment to a discussion group for the preliminary rounds.
- H. If more than one (1) discussion group [over eight (8) participants] is needed, a finals round will be necessary. It will be composed of the three (3) participants scoring highest in each of the discussion groups from the preliminary round.
- I. The moderator is the adult chairperson of the event. The moderator's responsibility is to introduce the topic and participants, to start the discussion, keep it on the track, and see that no one monopolizes the time.
- J. Each discussion group, irrespective of number, will be limited to the following sequences and time allotment:
 - Announcement of the topic by the event moderator.
 - An opening thirty (30) seconds (maximum) statement given in voluntary order by each participant.
 - A maximum of thirty (30) minutes for the discussion group's discussion.
 - Contest chair will provide a visual warning at twenty (20) minutes, five (5) minutes, and one (1) minute.
 - One (1) minute of silence for preparation of closing statements.
 - A closing statement of sixty (60) seconds (maximum) by each participant, also in voluntary order of speaking.
 - Introduction of participants and judges

- K. Participants may not bring notes or other information into the event. They will be provided blank paper for taking notes during the event. Participants may begin taking notes when the moderator calls the participants to the discussion table.
- L. The topic to be discussed will be drawn from a list of three (3) previously specified topics by the contest chair in full view of the participants just prior to turning the panel over to the moderator. The same topic is drawn for all preliminary round groups. One (1) of the two (2) remaining topics will be drawn for the finals round.

IV. Resource Information

- A. Before the Ag Discussion Meet:
 - Become familiar with the discussion questions posted by the Iowa FFA Association.
 - Learn as much as possible about the procedure for the Ag Discussion Meet.
 - Study material relating to the three topics. Sources:
 - library
 - newspapers
 - magazines
 - farm organization policies
 - county, state and national agricultural publications
 - conversations with those having knowledge of the subject
 - online resources
 - At the time of the orientation/instruction meeting:
 - Become acquainted with the other participants & moderator.
 - Ask questions to clarify any instructions that are not clear.
 - Listen carefully as the moderator outlines the procedures you will follow.
- B. During the event:
 - Listen carefully as the moderator clarifies the topic and indicates opening statements are to begin.
 - Stand to make your opening statement.
 - Listen carefully to other participants as they make their opening statements.
 - Keep within time limit on your opening statement.
 - There should be a conflict of ideas, but not of personalities. Remember, this is a discussion, not a debate.
 - Be aware of audience, but not to the exclusion of the discussion group. (Talk loudly enough to be heard by all of the audience.)
 - Be prepared to ask questions, state facts and opinions, and urge others to be specific.
 - Participate whenever it will contribute to furthering the discussion without monopolizing the time.
 - Be enthusiastic and, in general, use logic rather than emotion.
 - Make notes of key points as the discussion proceeds for use in summary statement.
 - Use the one-minute time to organize your summary statement.
 - Stand and make your closing statement to the audience—use accepted speech techniques—stay within time limit.
- C. The participants' responsibilities are to exchange ideas and information in an effort to solve the problems inherent in the topic. The discussion should not be "conversation" or aimless talk nor should the participants look upon their role as that of persuasive speakers. They should attempt to cooperatively provide further information on the topic and tentatively retain a flexible position. Participants should regard themselves as productive thinkers rather than as emotional persuaders. Thus, they are free to say what they believe and to change their minds whenever new information and ideas become the reasonable thing to do.
- D. Finally, this is not a symposium wherein each participant makes a presentation in his/her proper turn with the moderator ending the session with a summary. Rather, it is the technique of letting the participants talk freely with the questions, answers, and statements coming from any person at any time. Furthermore, this event is not a debate.
- E. Generally speaking, the discussion should follow these steps:
 - Statement of problem or need.
 - Explore, define, understand problem or need
 - Discover all possible alternative solutions
 - Evaluate and compare alternatives
 - Test and project what appears to be the best solutions
 - Indicate ways to implement (course of action)

How can FFA and colleges/universities educate young people as they strengthen their farm and ranch businesses?
